NEGO KILLED IN HEAD-ON

Ran Into Chesapeake & Ohio Freight While Trying to Escape Arrest After Playing Craps-Body Terribly Mutilated.

Hearing the cry "Here comes a po liceman Ulysses Brown colored, who, with seven others, had been incaught the flying Brown full, knocking him straight in front and running over his body, which had fallen across one of the rails. The wheels passed over the middle of his body, its deadly work. Every internal organ and all the bones were mashed into a pulp, and there was a slight wound on the back of his head. This was the only trace of injury, and when Officer Gerring, who had not seen the accident, was notified that there was a dead man lying near the tracks, he did not at first realize what had happened. The negro was anconscious, and Gerring, after see ing that life appeared to be extinct, telephoned for the city ambulance.

Dr. Collins responded. The dying man was placed in the ambulance, and all possible speed was made to the City Hospital. It was a thousand chances to one that the negro would die before reaching the hospital. He died just as they took him from the stretcher, and before they could lay him on the operating table.

Brown lived at 8 Orange Street. He was twenty-one years old.

There were eight negroes in the crap game, which was going merrily when the officer approached, It was as much a surprise to him as to them as he was merely going on his rounds when he came upon the gamblers. They saw him first, and some one pursuit. In his blind haste he failed to see the train backing toward him until too late. He sprang forward in an effort to pass, but landed head on in the car. The first impact probably rendered him unconscious, for he never moved after being struck and run over.

Brown escaped the round-up of the night before, when the police were raiding and cleaning up the infested places of Scale House corner, or he might have lived to roll a few more games before the police May 30, 1910.

NEGROES FIGHT DUEL

Impromptu Exchange of Shots May Result in the Death of Williams.

Sam Williams, who engaged in pistol duel with John Carter yesterday morning, is not expected to live by surgeons at the city hospital. Car ter has a good chance to recover, they say. Both men are colored.

The negroes quarreled in the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad yards. Carter, a fireman, was on his engine when Williams approached and called him down to the ground.

Williams began shooting as Carter's feet touched the earth and a men exchanged several shots. They to the hospital by railroad men attracted to the scene. They are said to have quarreled about a woman .-News-Leader, May 30, 1910.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

To The Public:

In retiring from business we wish to thank our many friends for their patronage in the past, also for the many expressions of regret at our going out of business and the complimentary remarks in our success in gaining and holding the confidence of the public for which we have strived at all times to merit.

In future the tinning and plumbing branch of the old business will be conducted by W. P. Klein and M. S. Meyers as the Klein Plumbing Co. with temporary office at 1712 Hanover Avenue, phone Madison 6450. Any orders in this line entrusted to their care will receive prompt and careful attention.

Respectfully,

N. KLEIN & SON.

Major Miller in South Carolina

Our genial friend, Major I. J. Milr arrived in Columbia on Tuesday, midnight, and was met by a bevy of old friends, who bad been apprised of his coming. General hand-shaking and heartiest greetings were indulged in for the reunion of old friends, who have been separated for several years, is always cordial. They repaired to a nearby restaurant and partook of light refreshments just to get a line on each other. This lasted several hours and they parted at last to meet again in the marning. The Major was domiciled at the palatial home of Rev. A. P. Dunbar, D. D., on Barnmell Street. The popularity of this distinguished gentleman wa attested in a genuinely fashionable and up to date smoker, arranged by a number of his friends and admirers at the Y. M. C. A. hall on Wednesday night 18th inst.

The committee on prrangements of which R. P. Campbell was chairman was-T. J. Green, I. Gaten Captain T. F. Smith, J. H. Garner and W. H. Thomas. They arranged a delightful repast, consisting of an abundance of solid and liquid re freshments for the fortythree men of the old guard, who rendered va liant services at the festive board "cleaning up" for the taterers with the neatness and dispatch which made the old guard femous in the days of long ago.

After the flow of soul came the feast of season. Mr. William H Thomas, the courteons and jovial master of ceremonies, in a neat introductory speech, said that the occasion was to do honor to a former resident of Columbia, Major I. J. Miller and to extend to him the kind of welcome that his position as successful business man and worth; citizen deserved. He then called upon the following named gentlemen to extend to our distinguished gues of honor toasts of welcome and Messrs, R. P. Campbell, Prof. J. W. Morris, T. J. Green, N. H. Collins, J. H. Garner, I. S. Levy, S. S. Dreher, Gen. J. R. Norvell, Prof. N. Frederick, J. B. Learle, A. S. Johnson, G. W. Dwelle Green Jackson, W. A. Smith, J. R. Corn well, H. N. Vincent, W. E. Green, L. A. Hawkins and others, gave the guest of honor such a cordial and Major must have felt that it was good for him to have been here. While the hospitalit, of Columbia is proverbial, no visitor to the fair cit on the Congaree has ever had such a "fuss" made over him, as was made over Major I. J. Miller.

The gathering was very good na tured and must be commended for the patience exercised in waiting long after the feast for the respons of the guest of honor, which they knew would be happy as well as profitable and Major Miller was prepared to furnish all that was anticipated of him by those who knew him as a "point giver," and right well did he measure up to his well earned reputation as a valuable and resourceful speaker. The words of wisdom uttered by him will be treasured up by his heavens and used by some of them to good advantage in the days yet to come, should occasion ever require it. By a rising vote Major Miller was unanimously vited to return to the city of Columbia to make his home with us once again and pledged our support and influence for him and his business if he should consent to come.

It was also unanimously voted that a committee be appointed to select the best South Carolina lady to strict observance of coming home at reasonable hours at night, a task which would not be so easily accomplished, not yet but perhaps soon. The Jack Johnson punch which

Mr. T. J. Green compounded had all the qualities for reaching the solar plexus and we hope Jack will do his work on July 4th as effectively with his great punch, as did this punch that bore his name. The best wishes of all were extended to Major Miller for his future success and the smoker was ended with the song, "He's a Jolly Good Fellow which no one can deny," led by the great singer, W. E. Green—W. H. T.

GRADUATES ATTENTION!

To Whom it May Concern:

This is the part of the year that all schools and colleges are having their annual closings and the grad uates that are scattered here and there are returning to their Alma Mater showing the good work they have accomplished since their grad It makes the old grad uates feel proud to know and read of such. We do feel that it is very important that the graduates of the Richmond High and Normal School would look well to the formation and keeping in motion an Alumni Asso-ciation of the said school. Too much praise and worth cannot be noted as to the brilliant students and grad uates of this school. Let the graduates be aroused at once, let there be a coming together of the graduates and let us form a strong, lasting as sociation that will mean much to the school, to the graduates and to posterity. What say you graduates? Respectfully
